Program Notes

Ricercare Plus was written in 2000 for the Brentano Quartet during their residency at Princeton University. The "Ricercare" movement was inspired by the rapid and florid counterpoint of late sixteenth-century music, with a few harmonic nods to the fifteenth century. The "Prelude" and "Postlude" movements were added in 2004 as a frame for the main movement. The "Postlude" ends with a ground-bass section, again reminiscent of early Baroque music. Care should be taken to observe the "senza vib." indications where they occur, as these are an attempt to capture the feeling of early-music viol performance. (Normal vibrato is appropriate for most of the work.)
